

Restaurant at The Petersham

UNIQUE BOTH IN STYLE and its surroundings, the award-winning Restaurant at The Petersham brings you a world of unashamed indulgence. Looking down from Richmond Hill, the restaurant offers unspoilt panoramic views over the River Thames; a view that can be enjoyed from every table. The ambience is relaxed with discreet but friendly service.

Buzzing with locals both at lunchtime and in the evening, the restaurant offers fine dining with impeccable service every day of the week.

The Chef

Although the setting is unparalleled, there is no doubt the star attraction is Alex Bentley's cooking.

Alex joined The Petersham in 2004 having built his career as Head Chef of Monsieur Max in Hampton, Middlesex, where he held a Michelin

Star for five years. He also won the Carlton Restaurant Awards for Best London French Restaurant in 1999. Alex's style of cooking stems from the time he spent in establishments both in London and South Africa. His menus change throughout the year and dishes change with each season to ensure that only the finest, freshest ingredients are used.

The Cellar

cellar is home to thousands of bottles of aging wine from some of the most renowned vineyards of the world. We believe that truly excellent cooking should be accompanied by only the finest wine which is why every bottle that makes it on to the list has been sniffed, swirled and quaffed to ensure it's just right.

Private Dining

Up to seven guests may dine on one table in the main restaurant so larger groups may like to consider their own private dining room.

The Alcove is a private area off the main restaurant and offers the same fine dining experience as the restaurant with all the privacy of a secluded salon. Seating up to ten, The Alcove provides an intimate dining area
